

ROLE-BASED E-LEARNING FROM SAP® EDUCATION

EFFECTIVELY BOOST PRODUCTIVITY
AND EMPLOYEE SATISFACTION

With e-learning courses from the SAP® Education organization, you can deliver the right knowledge to each employee based on his or her specific role. The results can be greater productivity, more efficient business processes, faster return on investment, and improved performance throughout your organization.

SAP® applications are designed to give users the functionality they need to work more effectively and profitably. And now, the SAP Education organization offers a series of e-learning courses that help your employees work more productively with your SAP software and get the full benefit of functions specific to their roles in your organization.

Part of the Blended Learning Program from SAP Education

The role-based curriculum from SAP Education is part of the overall “blended learning” program. Blended learning is an emerging best practice that combines traditional learning methods (paper-based, instructor-led courses) with e-learning technologies (Web-based training, distance learning, performance support, and learning management) to create a more robust and effective learning experience.

A Growing Curriculum

The role-based curriculum covers dozens of distinct roles and business processes – including the most commonly used functions in your organization. Courses are being added all the time in response to the ever-expanding needs of our customers.

For an up-to-date listing of the role-based courses available, please visit www.sap.com/usa/services/education/catalog/elearning/index.epx#rbc and be sure to return regularly for the latest additions.

Invest in Your People – and Your Future

An investment in employee education is an investment in your organization’s future productivity and profitability. With its role-based curriculum, SAP Education takes learning to an important new level, delivering detailed, practical knowledge that can help every employee work more effectively.
